D. APPLETON & CO.'S
NEW BOOKS.

The first two volumes of a Series of Stories for Young Readers.

I.

CROWDED OUT O' CROFIELD.

By WILLIAM O. STODDARD.

Illustrated by C. T. HILL.

How a plucky country boy made his way. One of the most successful of this popular author's stories.

II.

KING TOM AND THE RUNAWAYS.

By LOUIS PENDLETON.

Illustrated by E. W. KEMBLE.

The strange experience of two boys in the forests and swamps of Georgia.

Each volume bound in cloth, with specially designed uniform cover. 8vo. per vol., $1.50.

No. 61 TOWN AND COUNTRY LIBRARY.

IN LOW RELIEF.

A Tale of Bohemia.

By MORLEY ROBERTS.

A story of life among the younger artists and literary men of London.

12mo, paper cover, 50 cents.

D. APPLETON & CO., Publishers, 1, 3 & 5 Bond St., N. Y.

WILL PUBLISH OCT. 10:

In and Out of Book and Journal.

By A. SYDNEY ROBERTS, M.D., with fifty spirited illustrations by S. W. VAN SCHAICK. 12mo, decorated cloth, $1.25.

A collection of bright, witty, sententious sayings gathered from various sources, the pictorial interpretations of the text being characterized by peculiar genius, delicacy of touch and sense of humor.

The Distribution of Wealth.

By RUFUS COPE. Large 12mo, cloth, $2.00.

An examination of the extent and sources of our wealth and its distribution in the different branches of industry and trade. The author discusses in a popular manner the various important economical problems now so generally agitated, and by his keen logic adds materially to their solution.

The Two Lost Centuries of Britain.

By WILLIAM H. BABCOCK. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

The author here gives us a trustworthy account of the period intervening between the evacuation by the Romans and the commencement of authentic history of modern England. He has earnestly and critically sought out the truth embodied in the various legends and traditions current concerning that time, and has woven them with the facts derived from various authoritative sources into a most interesting and reliable narrative, which will prove a valuable addition to historical literature.

Hermetic Philosophy.

Including Lessons, General Discourses and Explications of "Fragments" from the schools of Egypt, Chaldea, Greece, Italy, Scandinavia, etc. Designed for students of the Hermetic, Pythagorean and Platonic Sciences and Western Occultism. By an Acolyte of the "H. B. of L." 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

Heriot's Choice.

The latest issue in Lippincott's Series of Select Novels. By ROSA N. CAREY, author of "Esther," "Aunt Diana," "Only the Governess," "Wee Wifie," etc. 12mo, paper, 50 cents; cloth, 75 cents.

Miss Carey has grown steadily in public favor as a writer of stories of domestic life in England which shows it at its best. She has drawn her pictures with great artistic skill, and her coloring is broad, vivid and true. Her books are always pure and clean, far removed from the undertone of immorality which taints most French novels and many English ones of the present day.

NOTES IN SEASON.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just ready the fifth and sixth volumes of Henry Adams' "History of the United States," both dealing with the "First Administration of James Madison 1809-1813;" the third volume of Marvin R. Vincent's "Word Studies in the New Testament," covering the Epistles of St. Paul to the Romans, Corinthians, Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians and Philemon; and two little daintily made books by Eugene Field entitled "A Little Book of Profitable Tales" and "A Little Book of Western Verse."

T. Y. CROWELL & Co. have just ready "Brampton Sketches," by Mrs. William Claflin; "Gospel Stories," by Count L. M. Tolstoi, translated by Nathan Haskell Dole, and "Half a Dozen Boys," by Miss Anna Chapin Roy. Next week they will issue "Famous English Authors," by Mrs. Sarah K. Bolton, and "Gold Nails to Hang Memories On," by Miss Elizabeth A. Allen; and on Oct. 18 finely illustrated editions of those masterpieces, "Tom Brown at Rugby" and "Jane Eyre." The last two will be published also in édition de luxe, limited to 250 numbered copies with Japan proofs mounted.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish shortly "Outings at Odd Times," by Dr. C. C. Abbott, another of those delightful studies in natural history with which the name of the author is identified; and "In Low Relief," a novel in the Town and Country Library, with "bohemian" London as its background and younger artists and literary men as its fascinating characters. The firm is also getting ready another of George H. Ellwanger's exquisite bits of description, to be called "The Story of My House," and to be issued in the dainty style of "The Garden's Story," with little head and tail pieces, some specially prepared etchings, and appropriate cover design.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will issue at once "The Life of Cardinal Newman," by Richard H. Hutton, the scholarly editor of the London Spectator, who cannot fail to make a book of great value and profound interest of the biography of one of the most prominent figures in one of the most important periods of modern ecclesiastical history. They have also just ready new editions of Lowell's "A Fable for Critics," with outline portraits of the authors mentioned, by Joseph Linden Smith; Christopher Page Cranch's "The Bird and the Bell;" Kate Douglas Wiggin's "A Summer in a Cañon;" and Nora Perry's "After the Ball." Of special interest will be the entirely new edition from new plates of Lowell's "Vision of Sir Launfal," with text and the illustrations by E. H. Garrett, printed on Japanese paper, an edition to be limited to one hundred copies, and sold with a special discount.

THE J. B. LIPPINCOTT Co. will publish on the 10th "In and Out of Book and Journal," a collection of bright, witty and sententious sayings gathered from various sources by A. Sydney Roberts, M.D., with fifty spirited illustrations by S. W. Van Schaick; "The Distribution of Wealth," an examination of the extent and sources of our wealth and its distribution in the different branches of industry and trade, by Rufus Cope; "The Two Lost Centuries of Britain," an account of the period intervening between the evacuation by the Romans and the commencement of authentic history of modern England; "Hermetic Philosophy," including lessons, general discourses and explications of "Fragments" from the schools of Egypt, Chaldea, Greece, Italy, Scandinavia, etc., designed for students of the Hermetic, Pythagorean and Platonic sciences and Western occultism, by an Acolyte of the "H. B. of L.;" and "Heriot's Choice," a new novel by Rosa N. Carey, in their Series of Select Novels.

THE BIBLIOPHILE'S APOSTASY.

Books are enough? Nay, nay,
They are not human;
I'd give all mine away
For one sweet woman.—Life.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Allen, J. Romilly. The monumental history of the early British Church. N. Y., E. & J. B. Young & Co., 1889. 14+255 p. S. cl., $1.25.

Having briefly sketched out the methods by which the archaeologist arrives at his conclusions, the author proceeds to show how far the history of the early Christian Church in Great Britain can be elucidated by a careful examination of the vestiges it has left behind it, in the shape of ecclesiastical structures, sepulchral monuments and portable relics. The relative functions of the historian and the archaeologist are clearly defined. The writer has also written "Early Christian symbolism in Great Britain and Ireland," a volume of Rhind lectures.

Bishop, W: H: The golden justice: a novel. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1890. 12°, (Riverside pap. ser.) pap., 50 c.

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record.

Bismarck intime; the iron chancellor in private life, by a fellow-student; tr. by H. Hayward. N. Y., Appleton, 1890. 5-286 p. por. D. (Appleton's town and country lib., no. 60.) pap., 50 c.

Many graphic anecdotes illustrate Bismarck's career as a student, as a young man, etc.; other chapters are devoted to the marriage of Prince Bismarck, his home, his character, Bismarck in the Reichstag, Bismarck's popularity, Bismarck's witty sayings, etc.

Blake, Mary Elizabeth. A summer holiday in Europe. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1891 [1890.] c. 14+203 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The writer's holiday was chiefly spent in Ireland and England, France and Switzerland. There are chapters on the opening of the Exposition in Paris and the Exposition itself, on the women of Paris, the ways of the French world, the Invalides and Père la Chaise, the Eiffel Tower, etc.; also descriptions of the cities of Orleans, Blois, Tours, Neuchâtel, Berne, Interlaken, Lucerne, Geneva, London, Dublin, etc.

Bodley, J. E. C. Roman Catholicism in America; [also,] The Catholic democracy of America. Balt., J. Murphy & Co., 1890. 1+77 p. O. pap., net, 25 c.

A reprint of two articles which recently appeared in the Nineteenth Century and in the Edinburgh Review. They offer together an interesting sketch of the rise and development and prosperity of the Catholic religion in the United States, together with the leading causes that have contributed to its extension.

Brown, Mrs. E. W. The whole world kin: a pioneer experience among remote tribes, and other labors of Nathan Brown. Phil., Hubbard Bros., 1890. 600 p. il. 12°, cl., subs., $1.50.

Browne, Theo. Stephenson, [pseud. for Miss G. Hamlin.] In the riding-school; chats with Esmeralda. Bost., D. Lothrop Co., [1890.] c. 2-205 p. sq. S. cl., $1.

The book contains minute reports of the elementary instructions given by French, English and American masters, and prepares the reader for private lessons, class lessons, exercise rides and music rides, and warns her of some of the difficulties of road riding. It also gives advice as to gymnastic exercise useful to the equestrian; hints as to dress in the school, and the latest fashions in dress for the road, with estimates as to cost. It is written in a bright, chatty series of talks with a supposed girl pupil. It is an open secret that the author, whose pen-name only appears on the title-page, is Miss G. Hamlin, one of the bright newspaper women of Boston.

Buntline, Ned., (pseud.) Buffalo Bill's best shot. N. Y., Street & Smith, [1890.] c. 4-188 p. 1 il., D. (Sea and shore ser., no. 23.) pap., 25 c.

Colored pictures and verses.

Clark, Susie C. A look upward. Bost. Lee & Shepard, 1891 [1890.] c. 3-215 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The doctrine of "Spiritual science" is here explained in a series of chapters called: Glad tidings; The law of progress; Diverse receptivity; God and the soul; Spirit versus matter; Good and evil; The bondage of fear; The healing power; Suggestions for treatment; What constitutes a healer; Gifts of healing; Spiritual growth, etc.

Clark, Susie C. The round trip from the Hub to the Golden Gate. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1890. 2-193 p. D. cl., $1.

The route was through Canada to Chicago, across the plains to Santa Fé, and "over the desert to Paradise," which means in prose Pasadena. A chapter is devoted to Pasadena and its environs, to Los Angeles, Santa Monica, Santa Barbara, Riverside, San Diego, San Francisco, Santa Cruz, Monterey, Salt Lake City, etc.

Compayré, Gabriel. The elements of psychology, tr. by W. H. Payne. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1890. c. 6+315 p. D. cl., $1.

Contains only the essentials of psychology; written in terms readily intelligible to the ordinary reader; its tone and treatment are in accord with the Christian spirit, hence it is specially adapted for the use of teachers of youth.

Cragin, Belle S. Elsie Gray: a story of every day. Phil., Presb. Bd. of Pub., [1890.] c. '89. 2-384 p. il. S. cl., $1.25.

A story for young people. It deals with real life, showing how its incidents and lessons improve the character.

Craik, Dinah Maria, [formerly Miss Mulock.] John Halifax, gentleman: a novel. N. Y., A. L. Burt, 1890. 12°, (Burt's lib. of the world's best books.) cl., $1; hf. cf., $2.

Dane, Daniel. Vengeance is mine. N. Y., Cassell Publishing Co., [1890.] 4+367 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A novel. The hero, Arnold North, is a scientific man of high standing in London, who, notwithstanding his devotion to science, finds time to fall in love, and that, too, with another man's wife. The book abounds in startling incidents, and the characters are cleverly drawn.

Darwin, C. The origin of species, by means of natural selection; or, the preservation of a favored race in the struggle for life. N. Y., A. L. Burt, 1890. por., 12°, (Burt's lib. of the world's best books.) cl., $1; hf. cf., $2.

De Quincey, T. Confessions of an English opium-eater and selected essays; ed., with notes, by D. Masson. N. Y., A. L. Burt, 1890. por., 12°, (Burt's lib. of the world's best books.) cl., $1; hf. cf., $2.

Douglas, Amanda M. In trust; or, Dr. Bertrand's household. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1891 [1890.] c. '66. 2-383 p. D. (Good company ser., no. 2.) pap., 50 c.

Drummond, H. The perfected life: the greatest need of the world. N. Y. and Chic., Fleming H. Revell & Co., [1890.] c. '87, '90. 1+25 p. S. pap., 20 c.

The author specifies many complicated and useless ways by which men and women seek to perfect their lives, and then gives as the one simple and effectual method the 18th verse of 2d Corinthians. Every man is a reflector, shows the environment in which he lives, therefore by making Christ a constant companion man will grow more and more like the perfect man. The greatest need is to keep your ideal perfect.

Eales, S. J. St. Bernard, abbot of Clairvaux, A.D. 1091-1153. N. Y., E. & J. B. Young & Co., 1890. 3+258 p. S. (The fathers for English readers.) cl., 80 c.

Gives a picture of Western Europe when Bernard was born in Burgundy, France, in 1091. Before his birth his mother dedicated him to the church, she having herself desired to be a nun in her girlhood. He was studious, and his austere education was softened by his mother's thoughtful tact. His manly and courageous character was combined with great tenderness of disposition, and from his earliest youth he rendered kindly service to all about him. His life in the church is made interesting by the author's style. Ten years after death he was canonized. Gives list of authorities from which the facts of the biography are drawn.

Ebers, G. Uarda: a romance of ancient Egypt; from the German by Clara Bell. N. Y., A. L. Burt, 1890. 12°, (Burt's lib. of the world's best books.) cl., $1; hf. cf., $2.

- Eliot, George. [pseud. for Mrs. J. W. Cross.] Romola. N. Y., A. L. Burt, 1890. por., 12°. (Burt's lib. of the world's best books.) cl., $1; hf. cf., $2.
- Emerson, Ralph Waldo. Essays, 1st and 2d ser. N. Y., A. L. Burt, 1890. por., 12°. (Burt's lib. of the world's best books.) cl., $1; hf. cf., $2.
- Fawcett, Edgar. How a husband forgave: a novel; [il. by Tèlemaqu Eksergian.] N. Y., Belford Co., [1890.] c. 3-228 p. D. (Belford American novel ser., v. 2, no. 10.) pap., 50 c.
A story of fashionable New York City life. The text is taken from John Stuart Mill and reads: "The moral regeneration of mankind will only recommence when the most fundamental of the social relations is placed under the rule of equal justice."
- Frédéricq, Paul. The study of history in Holland and Belgium; from the French, by Henrietta Leonard. Balt., Md., Pub. Agency of Johns Hopkins Univ., 1890. c. 3-15 p. O. (Johns Hopkins Univ. studies, 8th ser., no. 10.) pap., 50 c.
- Frémont, Jessie Benton. Far-west sketches. Bost., D. Lothrop Co., [1890.] c. 8-206 p. D. cl., $1.
Story sketches of a Christmas Day in Southern California, of the troublous times when Frémont was a leader and a power in New California, of the Sierras and the "big trees," of a ball on the border, of camp life in California and Arizona, and of many other times and places all told in the direct and taking way that makes Mrs. Frémont a peculiarly acceptable delineator of American frontier life.
- Gallagher, G. W. One man's struggle. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, 1890. c. 3-169 p. D. cl., $1.
A temperance story, said to be founded on facts; tells of a crusade made by a brave and zealous young minister upon the saloons of a New England manufacturing city.
- Gallagher, Rev. Mason. The true historic episcopate as seen in the original constitution of the church of Alexandria; introd. by J. McDowell Leavitt, D.D. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, 1890. c. 36+342 p. D. cl., $1.
The chief obstacle to church union among Protestants at the present time is the dogma of the historic episcopate held by the Protestant Episcopal Church. The author, formerly a High Church Episcopalian, now in the Reformed Episcopal Church, endeavors to present abundant evidence that the view that the laying on of hands of a third order in the ministry is essential to a valid ordination was unknown in the Primitive Church, and is repudiated by the better writers even of the Protestant Episcopal Church, many of which he freely quotes.
- Gilbert, B. A narrative of the captivity and sufferings of Benjamin Gilbert and his family, who were surprised by the Indians and taken from their farm on Mahoning Creek, in Penn Township, Northampton Co., in the spring of 1780. Lancaster, Pa., S. H. Zahm & Co., 1890. 38 p. 8°, pap., 60 c.
- Guizot, François P. G. The history of civilization in Europe; tr. by W. Hazlitt; with a biographical sketch of the author. N. Y., A. L. Burt, 1890. por., 12°. (Burt's lib. of the world's best books.) cl., $1; hf. cf., $2.
- Guernsey, Lucy Ellen. The hidden treasure: a tale of troublous times. N. Y., T. Whittaker, 1890. c. 5-339 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.
The hidden treasure is a copy of the Wyckliffe Bible hidden by a martyr of the Inquisition before he went to the stake. England, in the years 1527-1538 is the scene of a well-told story of the Reformation and the breaking up of the convents and monasteries.
- Haferkorn, H. E., and Heise, Paul, comps. Handy lists of technical literature: a reference catalogue of books printed in English from 1880 to 1888 inclusive: with a select list of books printed before 1880. Pt. 3, Engineering and mechanics. Milwaukee, Wis., Heise & Haferkorn, 274 Grove St., 1890. c. 7+168 p. - Harkness, Albert. An easy method for beginners in Latin. N. Y., American Book Co., [1890.] c. 11+348 p. il. D. hf. leath., $1.20.
The work is at once a book of Latin exercises, a Latin reader and a sufficient grammar for the beginner. It is intended to introduce the learner to such a practical and working knowledge of the Latin language as will enable him to read Cæsar or Nepos with some degree of pleasure.
- Hector, Mrs. Annie F., ["Mrs. Alexander," pseud.] Blind fate: a novel. N. Y., H. Holt & Co., 1890. 1+326 p. S. (Leisure hour ser.) cl., $1; pap., 30 c.
A husband's jealousy receives so much encouragement from the mean and petty nature of his mother, that in a moment of desperation he stabs his wife to the heart. He goes for a long time unsuspected of the murder, while an innocent man is being watched by the detectives. Just as the web begins to be woven around the husband he commits suicide. A love affair brightens the many sombre episodes of the novel. Scenes and characters taken from English refined life.

The Biblical doctrines of the last day, death, judgment and the future life are treated from the standpoint of the Methodist Episcopal Church.
- Horton, Rob. F. Inspiration and the Bible: an inquiry. N. Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., [1890.] 10+256 p. D. cl., $1.25.
The author intends his book to be a bridge across the chasm between Biblical scholarship on the one side, and the general way of regarding the Bible on the other. He attempts to show the abiding foundations of the Bible unmoved and immovable, and at the same time to recognize and allow for all the facts which the acute and earnest study of a generation of Biblical scholars has brought to light. He addresses himself specially to the thoughtful unbelievers of the present day. It is a valuable summary of some of the important results of Biblical criticism.

Ladd, G: Trumbull. Introduction to philosophy: an inquiry after a rational system of scientific principles in their relation to ultimate reality. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1890. c. 9+426 p. O. cl., $3.

Addressed to the laity at large, as well as those who are in processes of education. Though called an "introduction," no special pains have been taken to simplify or popularize its treatment. Prof. Ladd says: "Though much of its language is somewhat foreign to that of common life, the subjects of which it treats are those which lie upon the minds and hearts of all the thoughtful. If to such any of my thoughts can be an introduction, or a rade mecum in reflection, my purposes will be the more completely attained."

Mable, Hamilton Wright. My study fire. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1890. 4+199 p. D. bds., $1.25.

Twenty-two chapters of musings upon men and things indulged in by the editor of the Christian Union at his pleasant fireside, often surrounded by his dear wife Rosalind and their two lovely children. Many of his thoughts are given to books, and include some delightful criticisms on the writers of the hour, as well as on authors already conceded to be standard, if not classic. The chapters on genius and poetry are exquisitely written.

McConnell, S. D., D.D. History of the American Episcopal church from the planting of the colonies to the end of the civil war. N. Y., T: Whittaker, 1890. c. 10+392 p. O. cl., $2.

The author is rector of St. Stephen's P. E. Church, Philadelphia. He defines the position of the Episcopal Church in America, describes its vicissitudes and the influences which have made it what it is; points out its excellences and shortcomings with outspoken honesty. Dr. McConnell attempts to show that the religious history of this country is as peculiar and far-reaching as its political history, and that the influences which shape it are as actively at work now as they have been at any time. The special characteristics of American Christianity are tellingly put before the reader.

Martyn, Carlos. Wendell Phillips: the agitator N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, 1890. c. 4-600 p. por. D. (American orators and reformers, no. 1.) cl., $1.50.

This book traces Phillips' career from his boyhood to the time when he became one of the despised Abolitionists. It tells of his part in the great struggle, and of other leaders connected with him in it. Then, after victory, how he still worked for Negro suffrage—the last step in the black man's freedom. The book is filled with extracts from his letters and speeches, and gives three of his speeches in full, viz.: "The lost arts," "Daniel O'Connell," "The scholar in a republic."

Mead, Theodore H. Our mother tongue. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., [1890.] c. 3+328 p. S. cl., $1.50.

Written with the view of enabling the reader, without the aid of any other instruction, to correct any defects and imperfections that may exist in his manner of speaking our common language. These defects are found in the quality of the voice itself, in our manner of using the voice, in modulation, in articulation and pronunciation. All these points are treated in a thoroughly practical manner, the cause of the various defects being made clear, and detailed instructions given by following which they may all be cured. A vocabulary is appended containing some thousands of words commonly mispronounced in one way or another, and the correct pronunciation is given without the use of arbitrary signs, but yet in a way to be quite unmistakable.

Mercer, F. H. F. The spaniel and its training; to which is added the American and English spaniel standards. N. Y., Forest and Stream Pub. Co., 1890. c. 4-143 p. il. D. cl., $1.

When the writer of this book, several years ago, stood in need of a work to instruct him in the art of spaniel training, he found that none existed which was at all suited to his needs. He was therefore forced to study out the subject for himself. The training system described in this book is the result of his labors. It will be found very useful to sportsmen.

Apart from its interest as a tale of strange adventures, Pellow's narrative is valuable as a geographical document. It is a fairly accurate picture of Morocco between 1715 and 1738, of its cities, towns, public buildings, etc. Pellow visited many parts of the country for the first time, and several which not improbably have not been visited by any other European traveller. He was, moreover, a soldier under Muley Ismail, Muley Dehëbhi, Muley Abdelmalek and Muley Abdallah, and was an eye-witness to most of the sanguinary episodes of their reigns.

- Schleiermacher, F: Ernst. Selected sermons of Schleiermacher; tr. by Mary F. Wilson. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, [1890.] 6+451 p. D. (Foreign Biblical lib.) cl., $2.
Friedrich Ernst Schleiermacher was born in Breslau, November 21, 1768, at a time when rationalism was sweeping over Germany, threatening utterly to overwhelm the Christian faith. During his ministry he preached about four volumes of published sermons. The present volume gives twenty-seven, selected to give a wide range of subjects, and arranged as far as possible in the order in which they were preached. He died in 1834. A biographical sketch is given in this volume.
- Schurman, Jacob Gould. Belief in God; its origin, nature and basis: being the Winkley lectures of the Andover Theological Seminary for the year 1890. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1890. 8+266 p. S. cl., $1.25.
The Winkley lectureship of the Andover Theological Seminary has been occupied by experts in theology, economics, political science and law. The theories were largely historical or sociological, and generally of a practical bearing. An abstract subject seemed desirable for the present year, and the Sage Professor of Philosophy in Cornell University delivered the six lectures here collected in the month of March. The author has no desire or motive except to discover truth, and says that he will be deeply grateful for dispassionate criticism.

- Smith, C: E: The world lighted: a study of the apocalypse. N. Y., Funk and Wagnalls, 1890. c. 3-218 p. D. cl., 75 c.
The imagery of the first chapter of Revelation—the "magnificent array of light-bearers, seven golden candlesticks, the sun"—gives the author the idea that the fundamental idea of the Apocalypse and the key to the meaning of its symbols is the progress of truth in enlightening and saving the world. This he strives to make clear with reverence and enthusiasm.
- Smith, F. Harrison. Through Abyssinia: an envoy's ride to the King of Zion. N. Y., A. C. Armstrong & Son, 1890. 7-263+4 p. il. D. cl., $2.
When England became involved in war in the Eastern Sudan on behalf of Egypt in 1883, she was powerless to subjugate the Soudanese and effect the relief of the Egyptian garrisons in Soudan until assisted by King John of Abyssinia, or Zion. In 1885 the author was selected to go to Abyssinia as the bearer of a letter from the Queen to King John, and of the Sword of honor. He started the end of January, 1886, and this volume gives a detailed account of his travels and of the various peculiar incidents of his sojourn in strange countries, among a strange people.

Stilwell, Lamont. Brief lessons on the human body: an elementary text-book on anatomy, physiology, hygiene and the effects of stimulants and narcotics on the human system, prepared for the use of intermediate and grammar schools. N. Y., C. E. Merrill & Co., 1890. c. '89. 3-128 p. il. D. cl., 50 c.

This book is the result of several years' practical work in the class-room. It has been the practice of the author to teach the subject of physiology topically, objectively and with such simple experiments as can be performed with inexpensive apparatus. The notes prepared for the use of pupils have been revised and extended from time to time, until they have grown into the substance of this little book.

Stockton, Frank R. Ardis Claverden. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., [1890.] c. '89, '90. 498 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The novel is thoroughly American, the scenes being laid partly in the south and partly in New York, but there is introduced into it a type of English character which has not yet been used in fiction. This type is found among the well-to-do English people who have adopted Virginia as their homes. The story contains many incidents, including a deadly encounter in the black darkness of a cave, the hanging of horse thieves, a duel, and other scenes of dramatic action. There is a great deal of outdoor life in the story, and artist life in the great city is also treated of, two of the most prominent characters being artists.

An attempt to trace back the history of a single Indian tribe into the prehistoric or mound-building age. Dr. Thomas has already presented to the public some reasons for believing the Cherokees were mound-builders, but additional evidence bearing on the subject has been obtained. A more careful study of the Delaware tradition respecting the Tallegwi satisfies him that we have in the Bark Record (Walam Olum) itself proof that they were Cherokees. He thinks the mounds enable us to trace back their line of migration even beyond their residence in Ohio to the western bank of the Mississippi.

These lectures continue the line of thought opened in "The world and the logos" and "The world and the kingdom," two former works by Bishop Thompson. The temptation of Christ is taken as the text, from which many lessons are drawn on the social and political questions of the day. The titles of the several lectures are: The outlook, Led up, Tempted, Bread, Kingdoms, The law of the case, The end.

Tiffany, Francis. Life of Dorothea Lynde Dix. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1890. c. 12+392 p. por. D. cl., $1.50.

A remarkable story is embodied in the life of Dorothea Lynde Dix. It tells of a woman in ill-health, with limited means, and with no political or social power behind her, who by sheer force of will and the strength of her convictions revolutionized the methods or want of methods used in caring for the insane in the United States, and succeeded in establishing State asylums in almost every State in the Union. During the late war she was at the head of the hospital department for the soldiers, and did most valuable service, which the government fully recognized. She died recently at the advanced age of eighty-five.

Ward, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, and Herbert, D. Come forth. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1891 [1890.] c. 4+318 p. D. cl., $1.25.

"Lazarus, come forth," was spoken by Christ in the village of Bethany. On this miracle the authors of "The master of the magicians" found a novel having for historical background the vicinity of Jerusalem, Bethany and Capernaum, the customs and manners of the Sadducees and Pharisees, the decrees of social caste and the Biblical incidents of the time of Christ. Lazarus is supposed to be a master-builder. The heroine is the beautiful and queenly daughter of the High Priest, Annas. The descriptions are vivid, and the two romances running through the story are full of life and poetry.

Weatherly, F. E. Nancy Lee. N. Y., E. & J. B. Young & Co., [1890.] no paging, il. obl. Fe. pap., 25 c.

A nautical poem, with characteristic il. in colors.

Wider hope (The): essays and strictures on the doctrine and literature of future punishment, by F. W. Farrar, E. H. Plumptre, D.D., and others, with a paper "On the supposed Scriptural expression for eternity," by T. De Quincey; and a bibliographical appendix of recent works on eschatology as contained in the British Museum. N. Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., 1890. 11+436 p. D. cl., $1.25.

De Quincey's article was first published in The Intruder, in 1853. In 1857 Canon Farrar preached his five sermons on eternal hope. The most noteworthy comment they called out was a group of essays and strictures, contributed by a number of eminent writers, clerical and lay, to the pages of The Contemporary Review. From these pages James Hogg has edited the present volume.

Wiechmann, Ferdinand G. Sugar analysis: for refineries, sugar-houses, experimental stations, etc.; and as a handbook of instruction in schools of chemical technology. N. Y., J. Wiley & Sons, 1890. c. 8+187 p. O. cl., $2.50; interleaved, $3.50.

Within the past few years so many changes have been made in the older methods of sugar analysis, and so many new methods devised and researches of importance to sugar chemistry accomplished, that a concise treatise embodying these changes is most desirable and timely. A list of books and of periodical literature bearing on sugar analysis is appended.

Wright, Julia McNair. Sara Jane: a girl of one talent. Phil., Presb. Bd. of Pub., [1890.] c. 2-320 p. il. S. cl., $1.15.

Sara Jane is a young girl in her Aunt Maria's boarding-house. She is less than sixteen when introduced, but she is the centre of all the household life, a pervasive, inspiring presence everywhere. She is one of those cheerful people who never complain and never tire. She settles all difficulties, keeps all the complicated machinery in motion. As the story progresses Sara Jane's usefulness extends beyond the boarding-house and reaches many other lives.

Zabriskie, Francis Nicoll. Horace Greeley, the editor. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, 1890. c. 2-398 p. por. D. (American orators and reformers, no. 2.) cl., $1.50.

A fresh, readable account of the life of this remarkable man. The titles of its chapters are: The hour and the man; Early days; Training and tramping; Attempts at life; Incipient journalism; The tribune; The editor; Orator and author; The reformer; The politician; As a Whig; The free soil struggle; With the Republican party; The civil war; Reconstruction; The closing scenes; Friends and collaborators; Personal characteristics; Résumé and estimate.

Zola's fortune-teller, and guide to lucky dreams and speedy fortune. N. Y., Street & Smith, [1890.] c. 8-108 p. D. (Handbook lib., no. 5.) pap., 25 c.

"Containing the only true methods of fortune-telling and divination; also a complete dictionary of dreams, the art of palmistry, a full collection of charms, spells and incantations."

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

OCTOBER 4, 1890.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or our advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

OLD BOOKS WITH NEW TITLE-PAGES.

The Bookfinder, of London, boldly touches upon a subject which, notwithstanding its intimation, has come up for discussion more than once, especially in that portion of the press which has most to do with books and book-producers. We quote from The Bookfinder as follows:

"The practice of putting new title-pages to old books has been in use for years, and by force of example is steadily increasing. The addition of a new date appeared for a time to be considered sufficient, but of late years, grown bolder by degrees, many of our publishers, including some in the highest standing, have taken to adding 'Second edition,' when the only alteration from the original work is the addition of these words and a change of date. This refers principally to scientific works. From every point of view this practice is indefensible. It is misleading to the public and the retailer, and amounts to nothing more or less than a fraud.

"We challenge all the offenders in this respect to answer this question: Why do you put 'Second edition' on the title of your book and date it the present year, when it is the fac-simile of the first edition published some years ago?

"There can be but one answer. We shall be told that it is the custom of the trade, and that it has become permissible on that account; but that is no answer whatever.

"The true answer is, 'Because we wish the public to believe it is a revised and improved edition and brought up to date.'

"Now we contend this is as bad as the dairyman who labels his three-months' old eggs as new-laid, or the newsboy who cries false news and sells you the morning paper for the evening special. The last offence is punishable by imprisonment, but as far as we know, no one has yet even dared to raise his voice against this iniquitous practice of the publishers.

"We have been told that no publishers will advertise with us after the appearance of this article. Perhaps that accounts for the silence on the point of that portion of the press who have most to do with books and book producers. We, however; refuse to believe it, and think that when the publishers fully recognize the gravity of the offence, it will speedily become a thing of the past. Our publishers as a body are upright and honorable gentlemen, and we look to them with confidence to abandon the present pernicious practice without more ado.

In the case of works of so-called literature it generally makes very little difference whether the title-page tells the truth or not. It is quite different, however, with scientific literature. In this progressive age changes are rapidly made in every department of science, and, as a rule, the publisher keeps abreast of these changes, modifications and improvements, by the reissue again and again of old books to which new matter has been added, and which frequently are partially reset, forming practically new books on their subjects. This is what a student expects to get when he finds a standard work announced to be in a new edition. Unfortunately there are some unscrupulous enough to label a book as a new edition, when in reality nothing is new in the book excepting the date. We have in mind an American reprint of a famous French cook-book which, from time to time, is announced as "a new and revised edition." As a matter of fact it was printed from "a new and revised edition," but since then the work has passed through ten more editions; and, though the author of the book is now dead, will probably go through ten more editions. The latest French edition of this work has for years been as little like its "new and revised" American namesake as the present issue of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary is like the reprint of the 1847 edition. We know the same to be true, though not in such an aggravated form, of scientific and medical works published abroad as well as in this country. This practice is pernicious and, as the Bookfinder rightly says, "amounts to nothing more or less than fraud."

Juggling with title-pages, by the way, is a trick as old almost as the art of printing. It was complained of in Italy before 1550; and shortly after that Johannes Gymnicus, of Cologne, was charged with the practice when reissuing the writings of Leonhard Thurneyser. Ludwig Elsevier, of Antwerp, the founder of the reputed firm of printers, was an arch-offender in this direction. He helped along the sale of his 1615 edition of "Meursius" and his 1616 edition of "Aristotle" by prefixing new title-pages. He did not even hesitate about putting the name of another printer or bookseller on the new title-pages of some of his old slow-selling books. In a number of cases he omitted all typographical marks and name and put in their place a sphere. At times he "augmented" an old edition by changing the folios, so that the last page of the so-called "new and enlarged edition" would bear a higher figure than the original issue. And again he would create new books by binding two old ones together in one volume, as he did with his 1611 edition of "Culverius" and his "Les Tactiques d'Elie et de Leon" of 1613.

What has been accomplished by the modern publisher in the way of putting forth old books under new titles has been interestingly illustrated by Mr. James Lyman Whitney, of the Boston Public Library, in "A Modern Proteus." Doubtless much of this occurs through thoughtlessness, but cases are frequent, indeed, which would seem, to all intents and purposes, to be fraud.

THE event of the season has been the sale of the plates and stock of the old house of Robert Carter & Brothers on September 23. There were present about twenty-five bidders, and the prices were good beyond expectation. The whole list, with a few exceptions, was disposed of, the total realized being $54,293.12. As this figure is but a little below the price put upon the stock by the estate, we presume all concerned may be congratulated upon the result, from a money point of view. Not so, perhaps, from another—of course entirely sentimental—standpoint. It was the policy of the Carter Brothers, as it is that of A. D. F. Randolph & Co., to keep their books only in what they considered legitimate bookstores, and therefore they consistently and persistently refused to sell their books to bazaar, dry-goods men, or to the so-called Library Associations and Literary Agencies. Their new owners will have no such considerations, and the old Carter books will, no doubt, speedily fall in line with the rest. Mr. Randolph will now be alone in the stand he has taken against selling books to any but those keeping a bookstore exclusively. We intend giving in a future issue the names of the purchasers and the books that they bought.

In their latest contribution to the copyright controversy waged intermittently in the Evening Post, Messrs. Funk & Wagnalls make the following suggestion: Let the signatures of the members of the book trade who are honestly in favor of international copyright be procured to some such agreement as this:

"We, the undersigned publishers and booksellers of America, pledge that we will not publish nor handle any copies of an unauthorized reprint of a foreign book made after the date of this agreement."

'This does not strike us as being so much "to the point" as Messrs. Funk & Wagnalls insist it is. Supposing "the leading publishers," who honestly believe in copyright, were to sign such an agreement, what would bind those who are honestly not in favor of such a measure? No, gentlemen, there is but one way—human nature being still in an unregenerate state—and that is, as the Epoch tersely puts it, "to have a law by which everybody shall be compelled to respect literary property without regard to its origin."

THE seventh annual conference of the Newsdealers and Booksellers' National Association will be held at 510 Sixth Avenue, New York, Tuesday morning, at nine o'clock, October 7. We understand that a "plan for an opposition to the American News Company" will form one of the topics for discussion. We would caution our friends the newsdealers not to "bite off more than they can chew." That is what they have done heretofore, and that is one of the reasons why the American News Company is still in tolerably good health.

A NEW ENGLAND hodge-podge shop-keeper, in hawking about a "Webster's Big Dictionary" for one dollar each, makes this damaging confession: "Of course the binding is poor, so is the paper. . . . A foundryman says they are cheaper than coal." That is what we suspected; being manufactured wholly of "wood stock," the so-called book may serve a purpose as kindling wood. It is good for nothing else.

A DECISION IN THE WEBSTER'S DICTIONARY SUITS.

JUSTICE MILLER, in the U. S. Circuit Court, St. Louis, Mo., September 26, rendered an important decision in the series of suits brought by the Merriams against the publishers of the 1847 edition of Webster's Dictionary. The point the plaintiffs wish to gain is that the publishers of the reprint print plainly, in connection with the title, an announcement that it is not the latest revised work made by the Merriams. Defendants here demurred. Justice Miller overruled the demurrer, but in doing so said practically that the plaintiffs had no good ground for suit, as the life of a copyright is only forty-two years, and plaintiff's exclusive right had expired. The Court was of the opinion that the complainants sought to establish the doctrine that a party who enjoyed a monopoly because of a copyright for nearly fifty years was entitled to a continuation of that monopoly. The copyright was accepted with the understanding that at the end of the period for which the copyright is granted the work shall become the property of the people. That is the law, and the monopoly cannot be extended beyond the life of the copyright.

This is the first expression by a court of standing on this matter, though one of the attorneys said in the argument that there were suits filed by the complainants pending all the way from Maine to California.

THE "KREUTZERSONATA" ACQUITTED.

JUDGE M. RUSSELL THAYER, President Judge of Common Pleas Court No. 4, Philadelphia, on September 24 rendered an elaborate decision holding that Tolstoi's "Kreutzer Sonata" is not an obscene book. Charles Arentzen and other book peddlers were arrested at the instance of the Law and Order Society for selling the book. The case was elaborately argued before Judge Thayer, District Attorney Graham appearing as the prosecutor. The case was not sent to a jury, but treated as a question of law to be first passed upon by the Court. Judge Thayer in concluding said: "The work may be offensive to our opinions and convictions, just as others are which are daily sold in our bookstores without objection or challenge from anybody, but it cannot be justly said to be of an obscene or lewd character, nor is it, either in its sentiments or language, in any degree calculated to minister to corrupt or licentious practices, or to gratify lewd desires or to encourage depravity in any form.

"The Court was reminded upon the argument that the Czar of Russia and the Post-Office officials of the United States have condemned this book as an unlawful publication; that the former has prohibited its sale within his dominions, and the latter have forbidden its transmission through the mails.

"Without disparaging in any degree the respect due to these high officials within their respective spheres, I can only say that neither of them has ever been recognized in this country as a binding authority in questions of either law or literature. The defendants have committed no offence against the laws, and are therefore discharged."

THE BOOKSELLERS' AND STATIONERS' PROVIDENT ASSOCIATION.

AT a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Booksellers' and Stationers' Provident Association, held on the evening of September 24, the following new members were elected:

John R. Bergh, John Anderson, Jr., Walter W. Pollard, Charles A. Marvin, Emanuel Pergament, Frederick Vilmar, J. Kimball Roddy, C. A. F. Untiedt, J. M. F. Upaike, Le Baron D. Scribner, Howard W. Bible, George H. Scruton, Richard Weedon, Richard Horton, David M. Owen, all of New York City; and George W. Bible, of Bay Ridge, L. I.

WILBUR B. KETCHAM, Secretary.

COMMUNICATIONS.

RE-SELLING SUBSCRIPTION-BOOKS.

"A" SUBSCRIBES and pays for a copy of Stanley's book. After reading, he sells, or exchanges it with his bookseller. Question: Under the decisions of the courts regarding subscription-books, can the bookseller offer it for sale in his store, and not render himself liable to a penalty?

BOOKSELLER.

[Probably he can. "A" certainly can do as he pleases with his own. A subscriber is not under contract to keep.—ED. P. W.]

OLD BOOK CHAT.

AT Sotheby's a copy of the first edition of the scarce little volume, "The Loving Ballad of Lord Bateman," illustrated by G. Cruikshank, and published at 2s. 6d. by C. Tilt, has recently been sold for £11 5s.; Hasted's "History of Kent" was knocked down for £17 15s.; and a copy of the first edition of the "Vicar of Wakefield" for £20 10s.

SOME MS. fragments of Dante's "Divina Commedia" have been found at Sarzana in two parchment rolls, discovered among the papers left by Signor De Tomei, a notary. They are of great importance, says the London Athenæum, as they belong to one of the first copies of the poem ever made. The Biblioteca Marciana of Venice has recently acquired a valuable codex of the "Divina Commedia," written in the first half of the fifteenth century, in semi-Gothic characters, and with marginal notes in Latin made by the same hand. The ms. belonged to the rich library of the Counts Piloni of Belluno.

AMONGST the large number of Greek papyri found by Mr. Flinders Petrie in the Fayoum, and now being examined by Prof. Sayce, are portions of Plato's "Phædrus," in a text of the time of Alexander.

THE Trustees of the British Museum have published in fac-simile the papyrus of the Egyptian Book of the Dead, obtained for the Museum in 1888 by Mr. Budge. The papyrus bears the name of one Ani, a "royal scribe" and "scribe of the sacred revenues of Thebes." It was probably written in the fourteenth century B.C. P. Le Page Renouf, Keeper of Oriental Antiquities in the British Museum, wrote an interesting introduction for this issue.

Truth, of London, asserts that in this year's book sales the most striking feature has been "the extraordinary decline in the value of the classics, Elzevirs and Aldines, for which there would have been a most eager competition only a few seasons ago, now fetching only a few shillings." First editions are now in brisk demand, notably those of Burns, "which have just doubled in value (having risen from £66 to £120) in three years. A work which has risen in value with unprecedented rapidity is Halliwell-Phillips's edition of Shakespeare, in sixteen folio volumes, of which only 150 copies were printed. In May, 1881, a copy sold for £51, but the other day another copy, similar in every respect, fetched £171."

NOTES ON CATALOGUES.

THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION, Washington, D. C., has just issued a Check List of its publications to July, 1890, prepared by W. J. Rhees. It forms No. 745 of the Smithsonian Miscellaneous Collection. (34 p. 8°, 2 c.)

J. L. KOBER, Prague, has just issued "Cesky katalog bibliograficky za rok 1889," a catalogue of all books, journals and printed music published in the Bohemian language in 1889, prepared by L. K. Zizka and Bohuslav Foit.

GINN & Co. have published separately the bibliographical titles collected for Garnett's translation of "Beowulf" during the past few years. The author hopes that the full bibliographies that appear annually in the "Jahresbericht über die Erscheinungen auf dem Gebiete der germanischen Philologie" and in the "Anglia," and the prospective translation of Wülker's well-known and excellent "Grundriss zur Geschichte der angelsächsischen Litteratur," with additions, will relieve him of the labor of collecting these titles in the future, as the student of "Beowulf" will be able to find them by reference to any one of these works. (8 p. 16°.)

Catalogues of New and Second-hand Books.—A. S. Clarke, 34 Park Row, N. Y., odds and ends. (No. 30 of Literary Junk Shop, 32 p. 16°.)—Robert Clarke & Co., Cincinnati, Second-hand law-books. (No. 15, 56 p. 12°.)—F. M. Crouse, 38 N. Delaware St., Indianapolis, Ind., Miscellaneous second-hand books. (Sept. 25, 1890, 4 p. 8°.)—Excelsior Publishing House, 29 Beekman St., N. Y., Contents of popular recitation-books, for the use of booksellers and newsdealers, alphabetically arranged. (30 p. 16°.)—Mr. Evans, 197 Essex Road, Second-hand scientific books, and a large collection of works relating to Africa. (No. 1, 1890, 514 titles.)—D. G. Francis, 12 E. 15th St., N. Y., New and old books. (No. 96, 916 titles, 8°.)—Francis P. Harper, 17 E. 16th St., N. Y., Miscellaneous. (No. 45, 848 titles, 8°.)—M. Herold, Cincinnati, O., List of works on penmanship, illumination, lettering, etc. (4 p. 8°.)—T. and J. W. Johnson & Co., 535 Chestnut St., Phila., Trade List, October, 1890, to Law Booksellers only. (4 p. 8°.)—S. B. Luyster, 98 Nassau St., N. Y., Collection of choice, interesting and scarce books. (No. 174, 410 titles, 8°.)—Luzac & Co.'s Monthly List of Oriental books. (No. 6, 16 p. 16°.)—Joseph McDonough, 53 State St., Albany, N. Y., Miscellaneous second-hand books. (No. 67, 843 titles.)—Macmillan & Co., N. Y., Announcements for fall season. (8 p.)—George H. Rigby, 2413 E. Cumberland St., Phila., Choice and rare books. (No. 1, 228 titles, 16°.) This first catalogue is a splendid specimen of bibliographical work, and speaks well for its author and publisher.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ATLANTA, TEX.—Roach & Trice, booksellers, have dissolved partnership.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH.—F. E. Peaslee, bookseller, has gone to California, where he will in future reside. Great regret is expressed by the local press because of Mr. Peaslee's removal.

BLOOMINGTON, ILL.—A. Mansfield wants to sell his bookstore.

BUCYRUS, O.—W. G. Lewis, bookseller, has sold out.

DENVER, COLO.—Glasgow Keise & Co., booksellers, are selling out.

EDWARDSVILLE, ILL.—W. D. Harnist, bookseller, has sold out.

EMPIRE, MO.—Holden & Hopkins have removed their bookstore from Zincite to this place.

EVANSVILLE, IND.—Schmitt & Kramer, booksellers and stationers, have gone out of business.

FORT WAYNE, IND.—M. P. Stockbridge, bookseller and stationer, has been succeeded by Charles A. Stockbridge.

GREENFIELD, MASS.—F. H. Brown & Co. have just had their bookstore in Colonnade Block renovated. The old show-cases, which have been in the store nearly fifty years, have been displaced by some fine oval front, cherry and nickel cases, which greatly improve the appearance of their store.

HAMBURG, IA.—Rees & Sproul, booksellers, have dissolved partnership.

IOWA CITY, IOWA.—C. H. Pendleton has gone out of the book business.

THE LITERARY TASTE.—He (with a faint blush): Have you read "Bel-Ami"? She (innocently): Oh, yes. That is to say, I have read his "Looking Backward" and a number of his essays.—Washington Star.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE United States Book Co. will publish in this country Moncure D. Conway's monograph, "George Washington's Rules of Civility, traced to their sources and restored."

THE ALBANY BOOK CO. announce for October 10, "Looking Further Backward," by Arthur Dudley Vinton, still another answer to and continuation of Edward Bellamy's well-known novel.

THE WORTHINGTON COMPANY announce that they have just ready "With Clive in India," "A Tale of Waterloo," "In the Reign of Terror," and "With Pike and Dyke," all by Henty. The volumes are illustrated and bound in cloth.

THE HISTORICAL PUBLISHING CO., Philadelphia, will publish, about the middle of October, "From Manger to the Throne," T. De Witt Talmage's life of Christ. The book will be sold by subscription, and owing to the extensive advertising it has received, will probably have an immense sale.

F. J. SCHULTE & Co., Chicago, have just ready a new novel, entitled "A Kentucky Colonel," by Opie P. Read. The story was first published in serial form in The Arkansaw Traveller, and attracted considerable attention for its wit and pleasant narrative. "Cæsar's Column," published by this firm in May, has already passed into the seventh edition.

JULIUS BIEN & Co., New York City, have nearly ready an "Atlas of the Metropolitan District," comprising the environs of New York within a radius of fifty miles. The maps will be engraved on copper and printed in color, and "will give on a large scale all the details of the topography, hydrography, and economic features" of the area in question, with population according to the new census.

DUPRAT & Co., 349 Fifth Ave., N. Y., are to publish early in October an édition de luxe of Shakespeare's "Antony and Cleopatra," limited to 150 numbered copies, printed in Paris by Jouaust, on Japan and Holland paper. There will be seventeen illustrations, faithful to the archæology, designed and etched by Paul Avril, and an introduction by W. J. Rolfe. The plates are to be destroyed, and will not be used elsewhere. The prices range from $30 to $50.

E. W. DAYTON, manager of the estate of Wm. R. Jenkins, sends out the following notice: "Several publishers having sold goods to a firm styled 'Sabiston & Murray,' under the supposition that they were the successors to this business, the trade are hereby notified that any representation to that effect is false. Mr. William R. Jenkins died in June, but this business will be continued exactly as before, in the interest of the heirs. We trust this notice will be sufficient to protect our friends against any misrepresentation of this character."

THE Lew Vanderpoole Publishing Company has just issued "Eteocles, a Tale of Antioch," by Jessie Agnes Andrews (a thirteen-year-old child), and has in press, "Seemingly," a novel, by Mrs. Rockwood and Lew Vanderpoole, which is expected to be of particular interest to Bostonians, as Mrs. Rockwood is a native of Worcester, Mass., and writes of New England life and scenes with the faithfulness of one to the manor born. A second novel, by A. C. Wheeler (Nym Crinkle), will depict a part of stage life hitherto unknown to the public.

THE AMERICAN BOOK CO. have in hand for publication during the current school year revisions of several of Gray's Botanical series, and new works in both Gray's and Wood's series of botany; a new text-book in the "Elements of Geometry," by Prof. Seth I. Stewart; entirely new editions of "Webster's School Dictionaries," conforming to the latest standard; "Maxwell's Complete Grammar;" additional books in the Latin and Greek series of Prof. W. R. Harper, of Yale University; a new edition of "Cathcart's Literary Reader;" and a "Second Book in Physiology and Hygiene," by Dr. Kellogg of the Michigan State Board of Health.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS have just issued the marvellous "Finger New Testament." This wonderful specimen of printing and binding exhibits the properties of the famous "Oxford India paper," and weighs in limp binding about three quarters of an ounce, is only one inch in width, three and a half inches in length and one-third of an inch in thickness, yet it contains 552 pages (the whole of the New Testament), in a type which, though necessarily minute, is yet clear, distinct and perfectly legible. It is neatly bound, flexible calf, rounded corners, and is nicely calculated to fit the vest pocket.

HENRY HOLT & Co. have just issued "The Principles of Psychology," by William James, Professor of Psychology in Harvard University. The author says in his preface that the "treatise has in the main grown up in connection with the author's class-room instruction in psychology, although it is true that some of the chapters are more 'metaphysical' and others fuller of detail than is suitable for students who are going over the subject for the first time. The consequence of this is that, in spite of the exclusion of the important subjects of pleasure and pain, of moral and æsthetic feelings and judgments, the work has grown to a length which no one can regret more than the writer himself." He marks special chapters to which beginners may confine themselves, and hopes that by offering much he will be giving something to many. The two volumes are a most important addition to Holt's Advanced Course of the American Science Series.

WARD, LOCK & Co. have in preparation a cheap edition of Charles Darwin's "Coral Reefs, Volcanic Islands and South American Geology," with critical and historical introductions specially written for this edition by Prof. John W. Judd; a new series of standard works to be issued under the general title of The Macaulay Library of Great Writers, in which they have already under way Macaulay's "Essays and Poems," Walton's "Complete Angler" and "Sheridan's Dramatic Works," to be followed by others; an enlarged edition of "Every Man His Own Mechanic;" the second volume of the new series of "Amateur Work, a cyclopedia of constructive and decorative art and manual labor;" "England's Battles by Sea and Land," a complete record of the naval and military conflicts of the British nation, fully illustrated, in two volumes; "The Red, Brown and Black Men of America, and Their White Supplanters," by G. T. Bettany, illustrated; "The Dark Peoples of a Land of Sunshine," a description of the peoples and tribes of Africa, also by G. T. Bettany, illustrated; "Short Plays for Drawing-Room Performance," specially written for amateurs, by Burnand, Broughton, André and others; "Dicky Beaumont," by Arthur Lee Knight, and "The Heir of Langridge Towers," by R. M. Freeman, two books of adventures for boys; "Stories of Brave Lads and Gallant Heroes," by Cecil M. Norris, "The Adventures of Two Brave Boys," by R. M. Freeman, "Stirring Adventures Afloat and Ashore," by W. H. G. Kingston, three good gift-books for boys in the series of Beeton's Boys' Own Books, edited by G. A. Henty; "How to Read Character in Handwriting," a new work on graphology, by Henry Frith; "Half Hours of Scientific Amusement, or, practical physics and chemistry without apparatus," translated from the French of Gaston Tissandier, by Henry Frith, a new volume in the Scientific Recreation Series; "Beeton's Christmas Annual for 1890," which will consist of a new humorous and realistic story of military life, entitled "Brothers-in-Arms," by W. M. Watkins-Pitchford, illustrated; and ten new volumes in their series of Standard Prize Books, chiefly by Sarah Tytler.

A "LIFE of Schopenhauer," by Professor William Wallace, of Oxford, will form the October volume in Mr. Walter Scott's Great Writers' Series.

THE second volume of Dr. Bellesheim's "Geschichte der Katholischen Kirche in Irland," the publication of which work was announced last May, is expected to be issued this month.

HACHETTE & CIE., Paris, announce an important work on early printing, to be issued under the auspices of the French Minister of Public Instruction. The author is M. O. Thierry-Poux, of the Bibliothèque Nationale. The work will be entitled "Premiers Monuments de l'Imprimerie en France au XV^e Siècle;" and it will be illustrated with 289 fac-similes, reproduced by heliogravure. During the fifteenth century the art of printing was practised in France at no less than 41 places, and there were 145 printers and booksellers.

THE time for subscribing to Prof. Gallée's edition of "Old-Saxon Texts," announced three or four months ago, has been extended to November 1. In addition to what has already been promised, one of the plates will contain a phototype facsimile of some very interesting seventh-century drawings by an Anglo-Saxon hand. The text accompanying the plates is written in German; but an English version will also be published, provided that a sufficient number of English subscribers come forward by the date mentioned. The publisher is Mr. E. J. Brill, Leiden, Holland.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis, will find it to their advantage to put after their firm name the word [Cash.]

No. 16. DARWIN'S CORAL REEFS, VOLCANIC ISLANDS AND SOUTH AMERICAN GEOLOGY.

A volume of inestimable value to the Scientific and General Reader.

In the October issue of the Minerva Library, the Editor has collected, in one handsome volume, three of the late Charles Darwin's most important works—"The Structure of Coral Reefs," "Volcanic Islands" and "Geological Observations on South America." "The Structure of Coral Reefs" has always been regarded as one of the most fascinating of all Darwin's books, and his theories on the subject—despite much recent controversy—still hold the field. Each of the three works is prefaced by a separate historical and critical introduction, written especially for the present volume by Professor Judd, F.R.S., an intimate friend of Darwin, and one of the most distinguished geologists of the day. The introductions are in themselves sufficient to make this issue unique.

THE FOLLOWING VOLUMES ALSO ARE NOW READY:

1. Charles Darwin's Journal During the Voyage of H.M.S. "Beagle" Round the World. With introduction, portrait and illustrations.
2. The Ingoldsby Legends. With critical introduction, portrait and illustrations.
3. The Bible in Spain. The Journeys, Adventures and Imprisonments of an Englishman, in an attempt to circulate the Scriptures in the Peninsula. By George Borrow. With biographical introduction and illustrations.
4. Travels in Tropical South Africa. By Francis Galton, F.R.S. With Vacation Tours by F. Galton, Sir George Grove and W. G. Clark. With introduction, portrait, map and illustrations.
5. The Betrothed Lovers. (I Promessi Sposi.) By Alessandro Manzoni. With a biographical introduction and portrait.
6. Travels on the Amazon and Rio Negro. By Alfred Russel Wallace, LL.D., D.C.L. With biographical introduction, map, portrait and illustrations.
7. The Life and Letters of Dr. Arnold, of Rugby. By the late Dean Stanley. With portrait and illustrations.
8. Poe's Tales of Adventure, Mystery and Imagination. With biographical introduction, portrait and illustrations.

NEW BOOKS :

THIRD AND FINAL VOLUME OF THE

CYCLOPEDIA OF Music and Musicians.

Edited by JOHN DENISON CHAMPLIN, Jr. Critical editor, WILLIAM F. APTHORP. With over 1000 illustrations, including 36 full-page etched portraits. Three vols., 4to. Decorated parchment binding, uniform with the "Cyclopedia of Painters and Paintings." This edition limited to 500 numbered sets. $25.00 per volume, net.

This volume completes an important work which takes its place as an acknowledged authority in its special field, and ranks with its predecessor, the "Cyclopedia of Painters and Paintings," as an invaluable work of reference, while it resembles the latter still further in the skill and conscientious care with which it has been prepared, and the sumptuously handsome form in which it is issued. The third volume contains full-page etched portraits of some of the greatest of the modern masters of music—Rameau, Rossini, Rubinstein, Saint-Saens, Scarlatti, Schumann, Schubert, Spohr, Spontini, Verdi, Wagner and Weber.

Against Heavy Odds.

A Tale of Norse Heroism. By HJALMAR HJORTH BOYSEN. With 13 full-page illustrations by W. L. TAYLOR. 12mo, $1.00.

The adventures of Ingomar Vang, a brave Norwegian lad, and his manly, courageous and successful fight against adverse fortune, form the theme of a story of fascinating interest. The illustrations are in Mr. Taylor's best style.

Aspects of the Earth.

A Popular Account of Some Familiar Geological Phenomena. By Prof. N. S. SHALER, of Harvard. With 100 illustrations. New and cheaper edition. 8vo, $2.50.

"The subjects are as interesting as the way in which they are treated, and the illustrations are not only numerous but excellent."—New York Tribune.

Bric-a-Brac Stories.

By Mrs. BURTON HARRISON. Illustrated and cover designed by WALTER CRANE. New and Cheaper Edition. 12mo, $1.50.

"It would be difficult to find a more delightful collection of fairy tales. The book is illustrated with twenty-four fascinating drawings by Walter Crane."—Boston Herald.

STATEMENT TO THE TRADE AND THE PUBLIC ABOUT THE HENTY BOYS' BOOKS.

A publishing house in New York is out with a circular in which they call attention to "Our new and one American Edition of the Popular Henty Boys' Books," which they are pleased to term "Unauthorized."

We contend, in the absence of an International Copyright law, we need no more authority to publish any foreign copyright than do other publishers.

We have always been and are in favor of any equitable law or plan by which the rights of authors may be protected, and will willingly co-operate with other houses to bring about such a law; but until it is brought about we do not intend to ask any authority to publish any and every book we may feel disposed to.

As to their threat to sell below our price, they ought to know us better than to put out any such statement. What is to hinder our selling below them again? and the public will be the gainers.

But apart from the question of copyright is the Trade courtesy we have always religiously observed; namely, where an American house has commenced the publishing of any series of author's works, we have abstained from any interference; we did so in the present case. We found on full inquiry, that no American edition was in the market, and we did not conceive that because one firm had imported a supply of these books, that we were thereby restricted, by right or courtesy, from publishing an American edition; such an absurd plea would shut out all the cheap reprints in the market.

Be that as it may, we have made an entirely new set of plates of these books from new type, together with the characteristic illustrations, and are publishing them at a fair price; and it is a question for The Public and The Trade now, whether they will support us, who print the books in this country, or prefer to favor foreign manufacturers.
